What brought you to West Ascension Parish Hospital?

I was drawn to West Ascension Parish Hospital because of its commitment to providing patient-centered care and its dedication to serving the local community. West Ascension is a community I have grown to love, and I am honored to help patients achieve healing and improved quality of life close to home.

Why did you choose wound care?

Wound care has been a passion of mine throughout my nursing career. With more than two decades of specialized wound care experience, I have seen firsthand how proper treatment, education and patient engagement can dramatically improve outcomes. Helping patients heal and return to their daily lives is what continues to inspire me.

What is your favorite part about working in wound care?

My favorite part is seeing patients progress from injury to healing. There is nothing more rewarding than witnessing the body's ability to recover and helping patients regain their confidence, independence and hope throughout that journey.

Why should providers send their patients to the wound center?

Providers can trust that their patients will receive comprehensive, evidence-based wound care delivered with empathy and respect. We address not only the wound but also the overall well-being of each patient. Our team works collaboratively to develop personalized treatment plans designed to promote healing, prevent complications and achieve the best possible outcomes for every patient.
